ProtoBlock 2016 Projections Game

Protoblock Innovation

The core invention is the FB Fantasybit cryptocurrency based on 'proof-of-skill' - which in this case is NFL fantasy projection skill. Cryptocurrency is the term for ultra-secure blockchain technology made famous by Bitcoin.

Protoblock is a fair and open game platform that is decentralized in a way that makes every Protoblock player an owner through the FB coin distribution system. FB were developed on blockchain to be a durable coin ready to be exchanged. And because it is based on the traditions of NFL fantasy football - it avoids issues other coins have had with 'bots and random numbers.

Why You Should Play

Like any new game getting established, Protoblock gets better with more players and more skilled players. Each week the NFL players generate a set number of FBs and with increasing Protoblock players each week the average per person FB payout declines. But because its primary value is through user participation, it will outpace such that net per-person value increases long term. Recent market trends demonstrate (coinmarketcap.com) a widening userbase & distribution is the single greatest driver of value. It's a good time to get in.

Trading Game - coming soon with updates

The Protoblock Trading Game is a new ongoing futures exchange for NFL player value that doesn't end with the season. The Trading Game provides a way to use FB to play leveraged positions on individual players and hedge other season-long positions. And because it's future values, it never stops going all year-long. It even provides way to start tracking and trading on college prospects. Watch for coming announcements and new information feeds (@prototicker).

Protoblock players must have at least one FB for Trading Game eligibility. So start playing the Projections Game now to be ready with your FBs for when it launches..*
